

FUTURE PROOFING YOU - STAYING RELEVANT IN THE AGE OF INNOVATION

תיאור הקורס

Today's industry has taken us from simple digitalisation of products and services to an overwhelming demand for innovation. Whether you work in Design, Product Development, Project / Organisational Management or business support, or and even in an Education function, the demands on time as well as skills have grown enormously over the past years.

Over the 2-day residential programme, we will be working with the principles and process of 'Slowing Down to Speed Up' (Schramer 2007). Through the deeper listening that the process provides, you will be able to identify where you are right now and help you to envision where you want to be ☑ personally and professionally.

You will begin to reveal your current mindset, habits and behaviours that have led you to where you are. You will be able to distinguish those that continue to support you to materialise your vision and those that do not. In so doing, you will be able to make personal and professional choices that will be most fulfilling for you as an individual, and beneficial for your organisation.

Establishing work-life balance and fulfilment is essential for the individual, and beneficial for companies and organisations. (Nanette Fondas 2014).

The tools and techniques you will learn in this programme will support you in both meeting the demands of industry and maintaining a work-life balance that works for you.

Upon completing the programme, there will be a follow-up structure with the facilitators which will provide the opportunity to:

- ☑ Share your progress on your individual journey following the programme
- ☑ Agree on any further actions to support your intentions
- ☑ Identify the need for further support (e.g. coaching), if beneficial.
